

Assessing with Six Traits + 1

Grades 3-6

Tuesday, June 14th 8:00-10:00 a.m.

PresenterMedia

Today's Goals

1. To reframe the way we think about teaching writing
2. To write
3. To reconsider how we assess student writing

Agenda

1. Revisiting the Research Supporting Six Traits + 1
2. Defining the Traits
3. Understanding the DSC Approach
4. Merging Six Traits + 1 with Being a Writer
5. Writing & Scoring Products
6. Grade-level Group Application
7. Library Supports

Proven Practices

Collaborative Writing

- Teacher modeling
- Teachers working with students
- Students working with students
- Students working independently

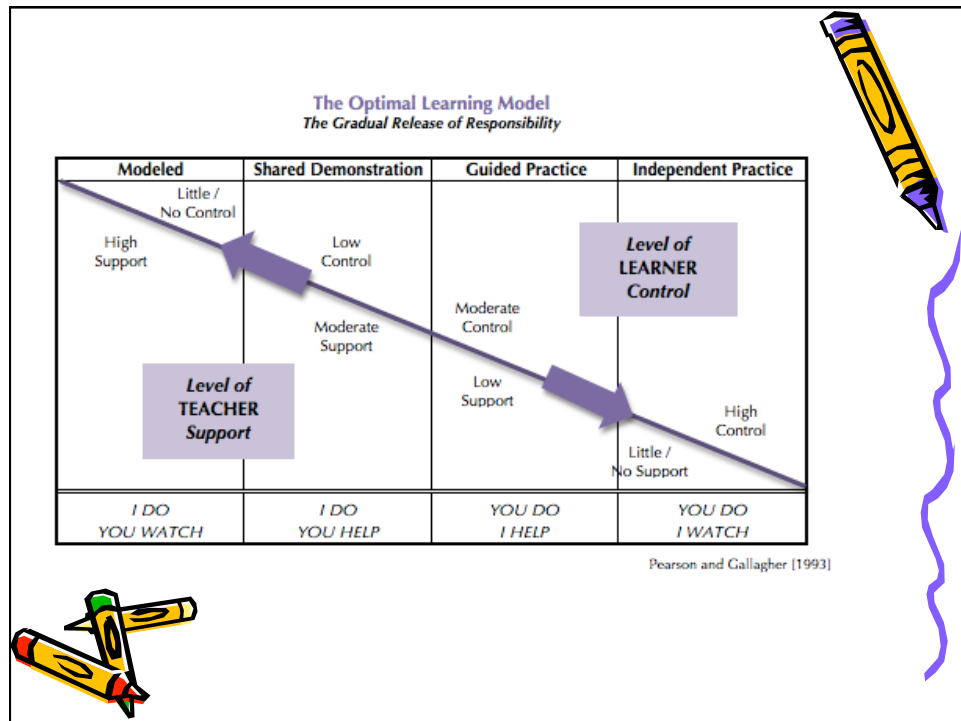

Strategy instruction

Instruction in the writing process

(Farnish, Graham, & Mason, 2006; Stevens, Madden, Slavin, & Farnish, 1987; Sutherland & Topping, 1999)

Revisiting the Research About Six Traits + 1

1974... Paul Diederich

- Study included 60 judges/300 papers
- Purpose to discover the qualities intelligent, educated people look for and emphasize when reading student writing

The Outcome

Important Qualities in Writing:

- Ideas...their richness, soundness, clarity, development, and relevance to the topic and the writer's purpose
- Usage
- Sentence Structure
- Punctuation and Spelling
- Organization and Analysis
- Wording /phrasing
- Style, individuality, originality, interest, sincerity

Vicki Spandel

1983-1984 the Analytic Assessment
Model Committee met in Beaverton,
Oregon to analyze student writing
They assembled a list of common traits

Northwest Regional Educational
Laboratory [NWREL] ... Six Traits

Presentation

Added to the 6 Traits in 1997 to:

1. Keep the conventions trait separate, and
2. Provide tools for focusing in on the "look" of the writing.

Assessing with Six Traits + 1

"Assessment is not something that we tack onto learning; it is an essential ongoing component of instruction that guides the process of learning. Assessment is the horse that leads the cart of understanding."

-Rebecca Simmons (Culham 2003)

IDEAS

Ideas make up the content of the piece of writing ... the heart of the message

Key Question: Does the writer stay focused and share original and fresh information or perspective on the topic?

Tips for Success with IDEAS

Encourage students to...

1. Be observers. [Learn to see what others miss.]
3. Pick their own topics.
5. Narrow the Topic [Write small.]
6. Elaborate on the idea [Develop the idea.]
7. Discover the best information to convey the idea [Include details.]

Organization

Organization is the internal structure of the piece, the thread of meaning, the logical pattern of the ideas

Key Question: Does the organizational structure enhance the ideas and make the piece easier to understand?

Word Choice

Word choice is at its best when it includes the use of rich, colorful, precise language that moves and enlightens the reader.

Key Question: Do the words and phrases create vivid pictures and linger in your mind?

Sentence Fluency

Sentence Fluency is the flow of the language, the sound of word patterns-the way the writing plays to the ear, not just the eye.

Key Question: Can you feel the words and phrases flow together as you read it aloud?

Voice

Voice is the soul of the piece. It's what makes the writer's style singular, as his or her feelings and convictions come out through the words.

Key Question: Would you keep reading this piece if it was longer?

Conventions

Conventions represent the piece's level of correctness-the extent to which the writer uses grammar and mechanics with precision.

Key Question: How much editing would have to be done to be ready to share with an outside source?

Common Core Progressive Language Skills

- Contains grade-level expectations
- Initially omitted from Guidebook

Presentation

Presentation zeroes in on the form and layout - how pleasing the piece is to the eye.

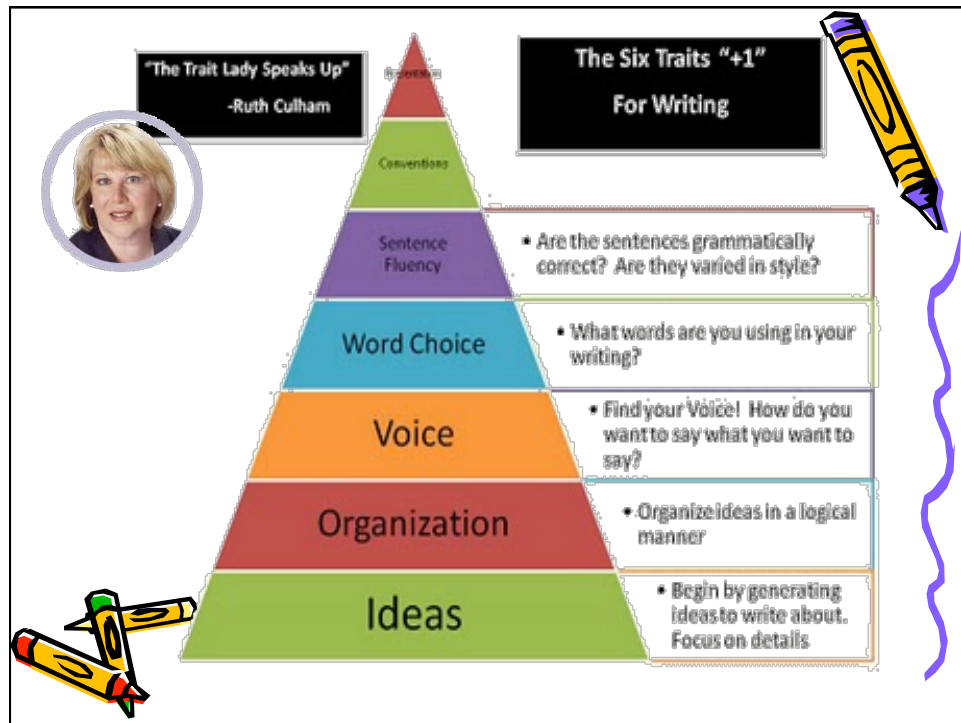

Key Question: Is the finished piece easy to read, polished in presentation, and pleasing to the eye?

The Features of Presentation

1. Uniform spacing
2. Legible and consistent handwriting or appropriate use of fonts and sizes
3. Appealing use of white space
4. Where necessary, bullets, numbers, side headings and other markers that help readers access content
5. Effective integration of text and illustration, charts, graphs, maps, and tables (Culham 249).

Advantages of Trait-Based Writing

- Captures the qualities of what good writing looks like and provides a common vocabulary for talking about writing
- Criteria is consistent from grade to grade; clear for students and teachers ... so progress and scores are never a surprise
- Criteria is easily shared with parents
- Criteria allows for students to become self-evaluators and more confident in their abilities as writers
- Teachers can focus on developing students as life-long writers

Being A Writer

Goal 1: Developing the creativity and skills of a writer.

To provide inspiration and motivation and a clear scope and sequence to develop the intrinsic desire to write regularly with passion and intent, and to build a full understanding and appreciation of the craft and conventions of writing.

DSC Research Base

Topic	Research Source
Social Interaction	National Council of Teachers of English
Collaborative Learning	Richard Allington
Teachers as Writers	Donald H. Graves
Classroom Practice	Nancy Atwell, Lucy Calkins, Ralph Fletcher, and Donald H. Graves
Genre Study	National Council of Teachers of English

Being A Writer

Grades K-2

Students informally draft, revise, and publish their writing.

Grades 3-6

Students repeatedly engage in the cycle of prewriting, drafting, revising, proofreading, and publishing.

Grammar, usage, punctuation, and some spelling skills are taught after the drafting stage.

The Task

Using Six Trait language and rubrics with Being a Writer materials

The Scoring Conundrum

	Six Traits 6-Point Rubric	Six Traits 5-Point Rubric	Being A Writer Rubric
6	Exceptional
5	Experienced	Experienced
4	Capable	Capable	Almost all of the Writing
3	Developing	Developing	Most [>50%] of the Writing
2	Emerging	Emerging	Some [<50%] of the Writing
1	Experimenting	Experimenting	Almost None of the Writing

"Franklin-izing" the Descriptors

	BAW Language	FPS Language
10	Almost all of the Writing	Exceptional
9	Most [>50%] of the Writing	Proficient
8	Some [<50%] of the Writing	Developing
7	Almost None of the Writing	Emerging

Scoring Responses

IDEAS: Writing fully communicates ideas and show sustained thought.

10=Author writes from own knowledge/experience; ideas are fresh, original, and uniquely the author's.

9=Author presents new ways of thinking about topic based on personal knowledge/experience.

8=Author "tells" based on others' experience rather than by "showing" own experience.

7=Author generalizes about topic without personal knowledge /experience.

VOICE: The writing shows individual expression and/or creativity.

10=Author interacts with and engages reader in ways that are personally revealing.

9=Author communicates with reader in earnest, pleasing, authentic manner.

8=Author seems aware of reader yet discards personal insights in favor of safe generalities.

7=Author uses only clichés, resulting in continued lack of interaction with the reader.

ORGANIZATION: One idea flows logically into the next.

10=Sequencing is logical and effective; moves reader through piece with ease from start to finish.

9=Sequence makes sense and moves a bit beyond the obvious, helping move the reader through the piece.

8=Sequencing shows some logic; but is not controlled enough to consistently showcase ideas.

7=Little sequencing is present; it's hard to see how the piece fits together as a whole.

Grade-level Application

<http://educationnorthwest.org/traits>

Part 1. Go to "Scored Examples" and peruse the work.

Part 2. Read & score student work that has been distributed to you. Then, compare your scores with your colleague's scores. Are they consistent?

Library Support

- Search OPAC by copy categories
- Click on Categories
- Select category from list
- Click View to see titles

Library Support

- Binder with list of titles for each trait located in school library
- Contains district list if you want to borrow from another building

Works Cited

- Being a Writer Grades K-6*. Oakland: Developmental Studies Center, 2010. Print.
- Culham, Ruth. 6 + 1 Traits of Writing. New York: Scholastic Professional Books, 2003. Print.
- Doucette, Erin. 6 Traits: A Sensible Approach to Teaching Writing. 2002.
- Troia, Gary A., Rebecca K. Shankland and Anne Heintz, eds. Putting Writing Research into Practice. New York: The Guilford Press, 2010. Print.

